- B Duty Responsibilities – All employees of the Agency are always subject to duty, although they may periodically be relieved of its routine performance. They shall always respond to the lawful orders of superior officers and other proper authorities, as well as calls for police assistance from citizens. Proper police action must be taken whenever required, requested, or necessary. All employees of the Agency are accountable for their use of delegated authority. Even when assigned a special duty or task, all employees are expected to exercise their authority as necessary.
- C Discharge of Duties

 - 2. Officers and employees of the Agency who may have questions concerning the performance of their duties shall direct such questions to their immediate supervisor.

D Command Responsibility

1. A commanding officer has responsibility and accountability for every aspect of his/her command. Within policy guidelines and legal constraints, the commander has the authority to coordinate and direct assigned personnel and other allocated resources to achieve organizational objectives. The commander must perform the full range of administrative functions, relying upon policy, direction, training, and personal initiative to achieve the highest level of performance possible.
2. Upon a change of command, the commanding officer being replaced has a duty to lend his/her full assistance in making the command transition as smooth and orderly as possible. Orientation of a new commanding officer should include information concerning unique problems of the command and assistance in continuing community and professional contacts relative to the command.

E Chain of Command - Organizationally, the number of persons who report to the Chief of Police is limited. To ensure unity of command, clearly defined lines of authority must be drawn so that there is a formal, structural relationship between each employee and the Chief of Police. Each employee must be aware of his/her relative position in the organization. This includes understanding to whom he/she reports and likewise, who reports to him/her. Employees should strive always to operate within the chain of command and to keep their supervisors informed as to their activities. As depicted in the Agency's Organization Chart, each employee is accountable to only one supervisor at any given time. The Chief of Police is available (by appointment) to any employee of the Agency.

F Assignment of Rank - The number of ranking positions in the Agency will be as specified and required by the organizational structure. Ranked positions are defined as those positions above the rank of patrolman and will include the positions of Senior Patrol Officer (SPO), Detective, Corporal, Sergeant, Lieutenant, Captain and Deputy Chief. Appointments of individuals to these positions will be made by the Chief of Police in accordance with the Agency's promotional practices.

G Flexibility of Organization - The ability of the Agency to make organizational adjustments to meet changing needs is essential in obtaining the maximum benefit from the expenditure of assigned resources. To ensure stability and continuity, the basic Agency structure should not be changed without a demonstrated need or to satisfy temporary requirements. There must be continuous monitoring to ensure that the agency's organizational needs are being met. In addition, each commanding officer has the responsibility to maintain the organizational viability of his/her command through constant evaluation.

H Organization - Any organization, including a law enforcement agency, cannot function without an organizational structure that assigns responsibilities and functions to specific individuals or groups of individuals. Each person employed by the Agency is responsible and accountable for assigned functions and tasks.

The function of an employee holding supervisory responsibilities is to see that persons under his/her supervision are performing their tasks.

A supervisor who is leaving his/her position may be required to prepare performance appraisal forms on all those employees under his/her supervision who have not yet been evaluated.
- C REVIEW WITH EMPLOYEE - The Chief of Police or his/her designee shall discuss each performance appraisal with the employee being evaluated. If an employee disagrees with any statement in an appraisal, he/she may submit, within ten days following the conference with his/her supervisor, a written request for review through the chain of command. If an employee still disagrees with the evaluation, he/she may file a grievance.

ATTENTION: The content or rating of a performance appraisal is non-grievable except when the employee can show illegal discrimination, capriciousness in its administration, or that it is not job related.

- D PERFORMANCE EVALUATION CONFIDENTIALITY - A performance appraisal shall be confidential and shall be made available only to the employee evaluated, the supervisor(s) involved, the Chief of Police and/or the City Administrator.

- B ABOVE EXPECTED (AE) – Performance of work within job requirements frequently exceeds quality and/or quantity performance expectations. Employee meets and occasionally exceeds expectations.
- C EXPECTED (EX) – Performance of work meets but does not exceed job requirements.

- D NEEDS IMPROVEMENT (NI) – Performance of work does not meet job requirements, consistently fails to meet quality and/or quantity performance objectives. Must improve job performance or appropriate disciplinary action can be taken.
- E NOT APPLICABLE (NA) – No opportunity to observe performance in this area.

III. USE OF FORMS

Every job class and assignment within the Agency is provided with a Standardized Employee Evaluation form. Those holding the rank of Sergeant and above will be evaluated on a Standardized Supervisory form. These forms are tailored to target desired behaviors within the particular class being measured. All like positions are rated on the same scale. All performance levels will be defined in the forms.

IV. RATER RESPONSIBILITIES

Evaluation forms are given to the employee's immediate supervisor for rating. Completed performance evaluations are then forwarded to the Chief of Police for review prior to being placed into the employee's personnel file. All ratings shall be based only on performance during the specified rating period.

IIV. RATER TRAINING

Upon promotion to a supervisory rank, the manager to whom the supervisor reports shall conduct rater training with the newly appointed supervisor. The manager will then ensure that new supervisor's performance evaluations are properly executed and that ratings will be based on reasonable expectations consistent with those of all other supervisors.
