3.1.5 PERSONNEL FILES⁵ (formerly 2.14.1)

The Office of Human Resources maintains all official personnel records. Faculty members must notify the Office of Human Resources of name changes, changes in marital status, and changes in telephone numbers, addresses, etc. Personnel files are records of the university and are considered by the university to be confidential. Faculty members have the right, upon request and at reasonable times, to inspect their files in the Office of Human Resources. The Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs maintains a file for each faculty member. These records are the property of the university. This file contains the vita; transcripts; correspondence with the Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs; copies of contracts for non-tenured faculty, adjunct, and temporary faculty; and promotion and tenure documentation. Faculty members may review their credentials file by requesting an appointment with the Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs.

3.1.7 COLLEGE AND DEPARTMENT FILES⁷ (formerly 2.14.3)

Deans and/or department heads shall maintain files containing faculty evaluations, correspondence, records, and, for non-tenured faculty, copies of contracts. These files may vary from department to department. These records are the property of the university. Faculty members may review their school or departmental file by requesting an appointment with the dean or department head.

3.1.8 ORIENTATON⁸ (formerly 2.3.2)

The office of the Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs shall have the primary responsibility for distribution of the Faculty Handbook and for orientation of first-year faculty to the policies, regulations, and procedures of the university. Orientation to specific duties and responsibilities shall be conducted at the college or departmental levels.

3.2 FACULTY QUALIFICATIONS AND CREDENTIALS (new)

3.2.1 RANK OF INSTRUCTOR⁹ (formerly 2.1.2)

The rank of instructor is a non-tenured rank. A faculty member holding this rank does not possess any right to permanent or continuous employment; does not have any manner of legal right, interest, or expectancy of renewal or any other type of appointment; and is subject to annual renewal by the university. Because of the one-academic-year contract provision, with no expectation of renewal for the rank of Instructor, the highest academic degree required for an Instructor's position is an appropriate master's or educational specialist's degree in the discipline.

3.2.2 INSTRUCTORS OBTAINING TERMINAL DEGREES¹⁰ (formerly 2.1.3)

Faculty holding the rank of Instructor may pursue a terminal degree in the hopes of obtaining a tenure-track position. These instructors are highly encouraged to discuss the terminal degree program with their department head and dean. SACSCOC requires that the University employ qualified faculty to teach; therefore, it is essential that the instructor and the University agree that the intended terminal degree meets the institution's needs and standards for the discipline. However, because faculty staffing needs change with time, obtaining an agreed-upon terminal degree does not warrant automatic appointment to a tenure-track faculty line. Instructors obtaining a terminal degree are eligible and encouraged to apply for advertised faculty positions but are not guaranteed a transition in rank or position. Instructors who obtain tenure-track positions may request up to two years of service credit towards promotion and/or tenure. The prior service credit process will be the same as for new faculty.

3.2.3 EXCEPTIONS TO CRITERIA FOR TERMINAL DEGREE¹¹ (formerly 2.1.3.1)

Exceptions to the requirement for a terminal degree may be made in cases of extraordinary faculty performance in teaching, service/community engagement, or scholarly/creative activity. To qualify as an exception, the faculty member's accomplishments must be more extensive in quantity and generally more impressive in quality than those of faculty members with the same length of service and with the terminal degree who have been promoted. Furthermore, the faculty member's extraordinary performance must be recognized regionally or nationally. Request for such an exception must be approved in writing by the department head, dean, and Provost.

3.2.4 CRITERIA FOR APPOINTMENT TO SPECIFIC RANKED FACULTY STATUS¹² (formerly 2.1.4)

At the time of initial appointment of a regular faculty member, the dean, in consultation with the division and/or department head, recommends rank for the initial contract, using the criteria described below. Upon approval of the Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs, written copies of the appointment and contract will be provided to the department, dean, and individual involved.

Thereafter, rank changes are subject to Promotion guidelines. All faculty members are contract employees with the university.

As referenced below, a college/university of "recognized standing" means a college/university accredited by one of the six regional accrediting associations, e.g., the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, or a college/university of recognized international standing.

²⁵ Revised 06/2023

²⁶ Revised 06/2023

²⁷ Revised 06/2023

²⁸ Revised 06/2023

²⁹ Revised 06/2023

Faculty holding tenure at the time of an administrative appointment shall retain tenured faculty status. Faculty in probationary tenure-track appointments who accept an administrative appointment may continue to pursue promotion and/or tenure. Associate and full professors who accept an administrative appointment may continue to pursue promotion and/or tenure. For those administrators pursuing tenure and/or promotion, the portfolio should reflect an evaluation with supporting evidence of administrative accomplishments and achievements, with supporting evidence, as well as the standard evidence associated with teaching, scholarly/creative activity, and service.

Upon becoming an administrator from regular faculty status, a faculty member's salary will generally be adjusted to an annual rate by multiplying the current salary by 1.2 and then adding the amount of the agreed-upon administrative stipend for the position. For example, for a faculty member on a nine-month contract with a salary of $60,000 who becomes an administrator with a $5,000 stipend, the $60,000 salary is multiplied by 1.2 to annualize the salary ($72,000) before adding the $5,000 stipend, for a total of $79,000. Likewise, administrators, upon cessation of an administrative appointment, return to a full-time faculty appointment at a salary determined by first reducing the administrative salary by the amount of the administrative stipend and then dividing 1.2 into the remaining annual salary to establish the new nine-month faculty salary. Given the example above, if the administrative salary has increased (due to raises, etc.) to $85,000, subtraction of the $5,000 administrative is the first step ($80,000). That amount is then divided by 1.2, so the nine-month salary would be $66,667.

For tenured faculty appointed to the executive administrative positions of Dean, Vice President, or President, the formulas above may be overridden by contractual terms. Non-tenured administrators who leave administrative appointments for any reason, other than denial of tenure, may continue their faculty appointments upon the recommendation of the appropriate department head, dean, and the Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs, and with the approval of the president.
