NONCRIMINAL JUSTICE APPLICANT'S PRIVACY RIGHTS

As an applicant who is the subject of a national finger print-based criminal history record check for a noncriminal justice purpose (such as an application for employment or a license, an immigration or naturalization matter, security clearance, or adoption), you have certain rights which are discussed below.

- Youmustbe provided written notification <sup>1</sup> that your finger prints will be used to check the criminal history records of the FBI.
- Youmustbeprovided, and acknowledge receipt of, an adequate Privacy Act Statement when you submit your finger prints and associated personal information. This Privacy Act Statement should explain the authority for collecting your information and how your information will be used, retained, and shared.<sup>2</sup>
- Ifyouhaveacriminal history record, the officials making a determination of your suitability for the employment, license, or other benefit must provide you the opportunity to complete or challenge the accuracy of the information in the record.
- Theofficials mustadviseyou that the procedures for obtaining a change, correction, or update of your criminal history recordare set for that Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), Section 16.34.
- Ifyouhaveacriminal history record, you should be afforded a reasonable amount of time to corrector complete the record (or decline to do so) before the officials denyyou the employment, license, or other benefit based on information in the criminal history record.<sup>3</sup>

You have the right to expect that officials receiving the results of the criminal history record check will use it only for authorized purposes and will not retain or disseminate it inviolation of federal statute, regulation or executive order, or rule, procedure or standard established by the National Crime Prevention and Privacy Compact Council. 4

Ifagency policy permits, the officials may provide you with a copy of your FBI criminal history record for review and possible challenge. If agency policy does not permit it to provide you a copy of the record, you may obtain a copy of the record by submitting fingerprints and a fee to the FBI. Information regarding this process may be obtained at https://www.fbi.gov/services/ciis/identity-history-summary-checks

If you decide to challenge the accuracy or completeness of your FBI criminal history record, you should sendy our challenge to the agency that contributed the questioned information to the FBI. Alternatively, you may send your challenge directly to the FBI. The FBI will then forward your challenge to the agency that contributed the questioned information and request the agency to verify or correct the challenged entry. Upon receipt of an official communication from that agency, the FBI will make any necessary changes/corrections to your recordinac cordance with the information supplied by that agency. (See 28 CFR 16.30 through 16.34.)
