3. Regular Salaried Employee: an employee whose earnings are computed on the basis of an established monthly salary and who is appointed for a least twenty (20) hours per week for more than four and one-half (4 1/2) months. A set schedule is provided by the actual number of weekly hours worked.

C. Recruitment

All administrative and professional vacancies are filled by either internal or open recruitment and must be posted for a minimum of ten (10) working days with Human Resources.

D. Vacancy

For an A&P recruitment involving the Office of Human Resources, the department submits a Personnel Requisition Form (PO-3) to Human Resources for each vacancy. Positions are posted for ten (10) working days. The posting period may be extended when the need to screen additional applicants exists. All applications and resumes received in the department should be sent to the Employment Manager in Human Resources. Human Resources sends resumes and applications of all persons meeting the position criteria to the hiring department. The hiring department schedules its own interviews.

E. Advertisements

1. For an A&P recruitment involving the Office of Human Resources, the department and the Employment Manager determine when advertising is to be utilized; if utilized, the department submits the request to Human Resources. The medium selected should provide for maximum exposure to minorities, women, and other protected classes in order to comply with Federal Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action guidelines.
2. The status of the local area job market may require Human Resources to advertise to supplement its active application files. When there is a limited number of applicants for an open position, Human Resources will pay the publishing cost for one line ad per vacant position.
3. Additional ads will be charged to the hiring department. Contacts with public and private employment agencies, placement services, colleges, universities, trade schools, and other recruitment sources will be made by Human Resources.

F. Reference Checks

1. The recruiting department may initiate employment reference checks of those applicants under final consideration for employment. Human Resources will, upon request by the department, initiate written or verbal employment reference checks of applicants under final consideration for specific vacancies.

4.3.3 Administrative and Professional Employees

2. Periodically, various employees of UTHSA will receive requests for employment reference information from prospective employers with regard to current or previous UTHSA employees. Those requests that originate from a non-UTHSA source should be forwarded to Human Resources. The department may respond to requests that originate from another department of UTHSA.

G. Departmental Interviews

1. Human Resources screens and refers the applications of qualified persons to the department. The department then contacts applicants for interviews.
2. "Walk-in" applicants (either through personal presence, in writing or electronically, by fax, or via telephone) who apply to a department should be referred to Human Resources for information regarding employment at UTHSA. Human Resources will screen and refer applicants as described above.

H. Extending the Offer

1. For a recruitment involving Human Resources, the department, with the Vice President for Human Resources, establishes the starting date, salary, and beginning date of employment. The department and the employment manager coordinate who is to extend the final job offer. If the department tenders official offer of employment to the successful candidate, a representative of Human Resources confirms the information with the candidate.
2. The starting salary is determined from the Administrative and Professional Compensation Plan; departments may elect to pay any amount up to the mid point; offers for amounts greater than that must be approved by the Vice President for Human Resources and the appropriate Vice President or Dean (in the case of academic departments).
3. Before extending the offer, the following steps must be taken:
 - a. The department selects the applicant and forwards the Selection of Candidate Form to Human Resources.
 - b. Human Resources then initiates the checking of the selected candidate against federal databases listing persons excluded, suspended or otherwise ineligible for participation in federal programs. If the position is security sensitive or requires a driving records check, Human Resources also initiates these checks.
 - c. A Human Resources representative then either extends the final job offer, including the job title, salary, and beginning date of employment or if the department extended the offer, confirms the same information with the candidate.
 - d. If the offer is declined, the department may submit alternate candidates or request additional applications.
 - e. Once a successful candidate has accepted the offer, the hiring department then enters the newly hired employee in the PeopleSoft system.
 - f. The Records Section of Human Resources will then complete the hire transaction in the system provided that the appropriate employment and benefit
